Our purpose

Make important information clearer, support participation and help care environments feel more connected. Our focus is the person receiving care and the people who make that care possible.

Bedbord

A digital bedside information display that offers a more legible and personal alternative to handwritten boards. Deployment requires a scoped discussion of current features, integration and local safety and governance.

TESS

An approachable tablet experience for communication, games, entertainment, reminiscence and radio. Product and commercial options are discussed after a demonstration.

Our founding team

Eric Tweneboah — Founder and Chief Executive Officer.

Michaela Reynolds — Co-founder and Chief Operations Officer.

Osam-Frimpong Schandorf — Co-founder and Chief Technology Officer.

Partnership approach

Listen, scope, assess, pilot and review. A useful partnership begins with an agreed problem and measurable questions. Costs, timelines and support responsibilities are agreed in a written proposal.

Evidence and claims

This overview makes no claim of NHS approval, certification, completed clinical deployment or proven clinical outcomes. Product assurance and conformity evidence must be verified for the exact product, release and setting.
